Francoists Again Occupy Teruel After Big Battle

Spanish Loyalist Leaders State All Their Men Withdrew

Rebels Say 2,600 Taken Prisoner

HENDAYE, France (CP) — The Spanish government announced today the strategic city of Teruel had been evacuated by its forces.

Insurgent dispatches declared more than 1,000 government soldiers were killed and 2,600 taken prisoner as the city fell.

They disputed government communiques which asserted the government garrison had fought its way to safety, leaving "no men, arms, munitions or food within Teruel."

The insurgents reported renewed heavy fighting on the new front southeast of Teruel, with heavy government losses. Insurgents said still street fighting preceded the occupation of Teruel. They declared the commander of the government garrison was killed while trying to escape from Teruel in an armored truck.

AT BULL RING

Insurgents declared their infantry had overcome machine gun fire, stormed the bull ring and pushed into the provincial capital.

But with the insurgents in the suburbs, the government army exploded mines tunneled under areas held by insurgent troops.

While the government troops were in retreat, advances from their commanders said they were yielding so slowly the retreat actually was a victory, because the insurgents sustained terrific losses.

Teruel is about 200 miles southwest of Barcelona and 80 miles northwest of Valencia.

Capture of the city late in December was hailed by loyalists as the greatest government victory in the war.

B.C. Cuts Down On Relief Loans

Borrowings From Ottawa This Year Limited to $2,000,000 as Revenue Used

British Columbia borrowings from Ottawa in the current fiscal year for relief and works projects amount in all to $2,000,000, Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, said today following his return from Ottawa.

Mr. Hart negotiated a $1,000,000 loan in Ottawa to complete his financing on the 1937 works program up to the end of the fiscal year, March 31. Previously $1,000,000 had been obtained for direct relief.

This is the smallest sum British Columbia has needed for several years. The remainder of its relief costs have been met out of current revenue, Mr. Hart explained.

"In our present situation," he commented, "if it were not for relief costs our budget would be completely balanced, including the setting up of all sinking funds."

Premier Urges Steel Industry

Now Is Time to Make Plans For Industry in B.C., Says Premier

Intimation that the provincial government would support any move for establishment of an iron and steel industry in British Columbia was given by Premier Pattullo today commenting on an announcement that the Canadian National Railway had just placed a $7,000,000 order for 2,000 cars.

"This," he said, "is a reminder that it is about time this province shared in this class of business."

"For many years efforts had been made to establish an iron and steel industry in British Columbia, but it had always seemed premature."

"I think it about time that plans should be formulated and carried forward. It will have to be done in a big way to get into world markets. We have a huge water power at Chilco up the coast which could supply cheap power for various industries."

In a mining way, he added, there should be a smelter on the coast.

Ickes of U.S. Scores Fascist and Communist Moves Within Countries

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes called on the democracies of the world today to repulse internal Fascism and Communism.

His remarks were contained in an address prepared for delivery by invitation over the network of the British Broadcasting Corporation. Arrangements had been made for him to be heard in the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India and the Union of South Africa.

The address inaugurated a series of British broadcasts entitled "America Speaks." The Secretary said he was speaking as an individual, not as a representative of the United States or the President.

"Certainly," Mr. Ickes said, "with the Fascist countries of the world drawing closer and closer (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

Pass Half-way Mark In Drive to Reduce City Budget $90,000

City Council Lowers Fire Ladder Vote to Spread Purchase Over Three Years

The City Council in estimates committee, last night passed the half-way mark in its drive to cut the preliminary draft of the 1938 budget by $90,000. Making provision for one-third of the total payment on a new aerial truck this year and slashing other grants, the council reduced the aggregate expenditure total another $22,988. That, with the $27,271 pruning accomplished last Wednesday evening, effected a gross reduction of $50,259.

The committee adjourned to be reassembled tomorrow evening at 7 to consider the remaining departmental votes, including that of the parks department.

On the motion of Alderman W. L. Morgan, the school estimates were returned to the school board for an explanation of certain votes and for downward revision. He suggested they be cut $30,000 to $36,000.

City Comptroller Macdonald stated the council had until March 10 to reach agreement on the ordinary school expenditures and until March 15 to secure arbitration. Extraordinary expenditures had to be decided upon within a week, he said.

Fire department salaries were approved. In the maintenance section, the allocation for fuel was cut $250 to $1,000; hardware $25 to $50; apparatus $200 to $650, and gas and oil $50 to $700. Miscellaneous charges were reduced $75 to $400.

Alderman Archie Willis, chairman of the fire - wardens, suggested the vote of $22,000 for a new aerial ladder truck be cut to $8,000. He remarked that tenders had been rejected for a new machine (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

Mrs. H. Sanford Passes in East

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Harriet Sanford, 89, widow of Senator W. E. Sanford and widely known for her activities in women's affairs, died at her home here today. She was a frequent visitor at Earncliffe during the lifetime of Sir John A. Macdonald and her friendship with Lady Macdonald continued after the latter had taken up residence in England.

Mrs. Sanford was particularly interested in the National Council of Women, of which she was president. During the Great War she played a prominent part in caring for dependents of soldiers.

Dean C. S. Quainton Passes In England

Beloved Former Dean of Columbia Succumbs to Illness in 71st Year

Very Rev. Cecil S. Quainton, who left Victoria last September after more than 20 years of service as Dean of Columbia, died this morning at Ruislip, Buckinghamshire, England. He was in his 71st year.

Last night Eric Quainton, his son living here, received a telegram saying the dean was seriously ill. It was followed this morning by a second message that he had passed away.

The cable gave only scant details of the circumstances of the dean's death. His body will be cremated and a funeral service will be held Friday at Ruislip, a town on the main railroad line north of London, where the dean had held a parish for a few months.

His ashes will be brought to Victoria to have their final resting place in the cathedral which he watched grow and which he loved so well. A memorial service will be held in the cathedral at 2.30 Friday

Chamberlain Defends His Course In Europe As Opposition Makes Attack

Dr. A. Peebles Goes to Europe

Health Insurance Commission Head to Study System in Old Country

Study of health insurance systems in European countries will be made by Dr. Allon Peebles, chairman of the B.C. health insurance commission, Premier Pattullo announced today.

Dr. Peebles will leave Victoria within a week and will be absent about three months.

The commission chairman will visit England, Scotland, France, Germany, Denmark and Norway, all of which have health insurance systems in operation.

He is to study the workings of each, the different administrative details and practical operation of the schemes.

"I think it will be well to have the benefit of the experience in those countries," the Premier commented.

British Columbia's health insurance plan, ratified by the Legislature in 1936 but blocked from going into operation in the spring of 1937 when the medical profession declined to accept it, was originally patterned after the system in Britain with alterations to suit local conditions.

Forces Mass On 120-Mile Front

SHANGHAI (AP)—A Japanese naval flotilla today ran a gauntlet of Chinese machine gun batteries along the middle Yangtze River and carried the spearhead of Japan's advance to within 30 miles of Anking, capital of Anhwei province.

This thrust carried Japanese naval forces some 65 miles up the river beyond Wuhu, captured by the Japanese army early in December.

In the far-flung battle along the Yellow River Japanese columns driving toward the vital Lunghai railway, "lifeline" of China's military position, reported important gains at both the eastern and western ends of the battlefield.

Vanguards of Japanese forces have been massing along a 120-mile front on the north bank of the Yellow River and making exploratory attacks Tuesday to test Chinese south bank defences.

In Answer to Labor Challenge to Appeal to Electors on Events Involving Resignation of Eden as Foreign Secretary, Prime Minister Declares League Cannot Protect Countries From Aggression, and His Ministry's Decision to Negotiate With Italy Is Correct One

LONDON—Taunt, ridicule and challenge raced across the stormy House of Commons today as the Labor party moved a vote of censure against the government.

Throughout his speech Prime Minister Chamberlain had to face a barrage of opposition interruptions and jeering comment.

"The leader of the government has been attacked, surely he has the right to reply," pleaded the Speaker, Rt. Hon. E. A. Fitzroy, as he strove to secure a better hearing for Mr. Chamberlain.

"If honorable members will not listen to me now, perhaps they will read my speech later," said the Prime Minister after another burst of interruptions had died down.

Earlier Rt. Hon. Arthur Greenwood, deputy leader of the Labor Party, had declared that with Anthony Eden out of the Cabinet, "the fate of the world rests in the trembling hands" of Prime Minister Chamberlain.

During his address Mr. Chamberlain shouted to the angry opposition that the League of Nations as protection against aggression was "a delusion" and demanded Geneva throw off its "shams and pretences."

CHURCHILL SAYS EDEN RIGHT

Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill threw his weight into the debate against the government, declaring Anthony Eden was "absolutely right" in resigning as Foreign Secretary. He declared Italy was weak and Premier Mussolini anxious about internal conditions. He was unable to see why the government should "hurry so eagerly to the rescue."

At one point, Mr. Chamberlain, striving to make his voice heard above the cries of the Labor Party members, who were demanding a vote of censure for his policy of making friends with Europe's dictators, cried:

"We must not try to delude ourselves, and still more we must not try to delude small, weak nations that they will be protected by the League against aggression."

"We know that nothing of the kind can be expected."

The motion of censure as moved by Mr. Greenwood would have the House state it "deplores the circumstances in which the late Foreign Secretary has been obliged to resign office and has no confidence in His Majesty's present advisers in their conduct of foreign affairs."

Before he concluded his speech Mr. Greenwood challenged the government to go to the country on Foreign Secretary Eden's resignation. The difference between Mr. Eden and the Prime Minister, Mr. Greenwood declared, "is that Mr. Eden believes both in faith and works while the Prime Minister stands for blind faith alone."

"He's a Unitarian," came an interruption from the Labor back benches.

"The manifesto of the Conservative Party at the last general election," Mr. Greenwood continued, "declared the League of Nations, as heretofore, was the keystone of British foreign policy. The government, having then electorally capitalized the peace ballot, now is turning down the League."

"It is scuttling to the back door of the dictatorships to make a deal behind the back of the friendly powers. The Prime Minister is sneaking around to the pirate's lair to try to buy him off."

Mr. Chamberlain paid lip service to France but, the Labor speaker continued, the House had a right to know whether France had been consulted over the coming Italian conversations. The Prime Minister was putting childlike faith in the word of a country which had broken its vows.

"We place no reliance in the word of the Italian government," Mr. Greenwood explained. The Labor benches cheered.

Chamberlain's Move Called Bold

LONDON (CP)—The most sensational newspaper play in London this morning was in the News Chronicle, Liberal. One line across the top in large letters read: "Premier Stakes All On Italy."

Mr. Chamberlain declared: "I don't see I have done anything disgraceful."

together in an ominous and bodeful phalanx, it behooves America and all other democratic nations to prove that under a democratic form of government the highest political liberty as well as the greatest economic security... will be provided.

GREATEST FIGHT

"Here in the United States we realize the democratic principle is having to fight to maintain itself as it has not had to fight since it first became established.

"In all parts of the world it is beset by two fanatical foes which have the will to conquer at all costs. Democracy can not live side by side in the same country with either Fascism or Communism. Democracy is the very antithesis of both of these objectionable systems of governments.

"Totalitarianism, either of the right or the left, is alien to the spirit that dominates the English-speaking democracies of the world. Totalitarianism is subversive to the ideals upon which our democracies are founded.

America, Mr. Ickes asserted, escaped dictatorship of concentrated wealth, but still was threatened by "economic royalists."

SINCE 1929 SWING

"Here in America," he said, "when the economic depression struck us in 1929... there were men who yearned for a dictatorship, and those who were willing to accept a Fascist form of government; those who even went so far as to suggest one, were not the lowly of the land, nor even its average citizens.

French Ship Off Spain Attacked

MARSEILLES, France (CP-Havas)—The French freighter Prado—wireless today it had been attacked by unidentified airplanes 15 miles from the Spanish government port of Valencia. One person aboard the ship was reported wounded.

It was the second molestation of the ship within recent weeks. On January 24 the French destroyer Albatros rescued the freighter after it had been stopped and ordered to change its course by a "pirate" warship off the Spanish coast near Palamos.

HOT INTERNATIONAL DEBATE IN BRITISH COMMONS

"The Prime Minister is risking the peace of the world and the good name and honor of this country on promises, made on behalf of a state, which were deliberately broken in writing almost before the ink was dry."

Four great powers, Mr. Greenwood pursued, were not enough to establish the rule of law. The Prime Minister's new attitude on foreign affairs was a renunciation of all that was best. His statement Monday had shocked the moral conscience of the world. From the Conservative back benches came loud shouts of protest.

Mr. Greenwood charged the Prime Minister's policy would lead to war.

EFFECT ON U.S.

Mr. Greenwood declared "recognition of Abyssinia (Italy's conquest of Ethiopia) would really hamstring the President of the United States and drive him completely into a policy of isolation."

He declared non-recognition of the Italian conquest was a cardinal principle of United States foreign policy and recalled that President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull had refused to conclude a treaty with Italy rather than admit that Ethiopia was Italian territory.

CHEERS FOR PREMIER

As Mr. Chamberlain rose to reply he was greeted with long Conservative cheering. A number of boos were heard from the Labor benches.

On the League the Prime Minister carried the war into the opposition trenches. He charged Labor with blind adherence to phrases they had not taken the trouble to understand. What, he questioned, did the Labor opposition mean by collective security?

"I mean by collective security," the Prime Minister continued, "a system under which collective action of a number of states is assured to prevent aggression or, if aggression is undertaken, to put an end to it and punish the aggressor."

"I ask, does anybody believe that the League as at present constituted can afford to apply collective security?"

The Conservatives cheered. "What do you mean at the general election?" the Labor benches shouted.

SAYS ALL CHANGED

"I say the situation had completely changed since the general election," Mr. Chamberlain retorted. "At the last general election it was still possible to apply collective security. I believe it may."

"I would say more. I say that if I am right, and I am confident I am, in saying that the League as constituted today is unable to provide collective security for anybody, then I say we must not try to delude ourselves and still more we must not try to delude small weak nations into thinking they will be protected by the League against aggression. . . . You can't expect the League to exercise the same functions if nearly all the great powers have left it."

STATEMENT ABOUT EDEN

As Mr. Chamberlain spoke, Mr. Eden, the resigned Foreign Secretary, was looking on from a private member's seat.

Mr. Chamberlain declared Mr. Eden had never told him he considered conversations with Italy or Germany a breach of "international good faith."

"I am trying to be scrupulously fair with him," the Prime Minister declared. "All the same I wish to say here in his presence that I have no recollection that at any time he ever said to me that the question of international good faith constituted an embargo on conversations with either Italy or Germany."

Mr. Chamberlain directly singled out the statement of Viscount Cranborne, under-secretary for foreign affairs, who also resigned, that the split between

Mr. Eden and the cabinet was over a "principle of good faith in international affairs."

CONSULTED FRENCH

The Prime Minister repudiated the Labor suggestion he had "done anything behind the backs of our friends."

He said the French had been consulted fully on the Italian consultations and appeared to be in "complete agreement on the subjects to be discussed."

He was cheered when he declared that if Great Britain wanted talks with Italy, "the sooner we have them the better."

HIS RESPONSIBILITY

Reiterating it was essential to talk friendship with Italy now, the Prime Minister said in a voice that sank almost to a whisper:

"There may come a time when someone who occupies the position I hold today will have to face again the awful responsibility of answering this question—Will you plunge your country into war?"

"I pray this responsibility will not fall on me. . . . But does not an equally heavy responsibility lie on a man who feels as I do that if we do not take action we may presently be faced with that frightful question and who feels that by taking action we shall do something to avert it?"

"I would be falling in my duty if I failed to take that action now—as I have done."

DISPLAYS ANGER

There was a tense moment when Philip John Noel-Baker, Labor member, rushed to the barrier and demanded to know if the League was not the same as always except that now "the aggressor, Italy," was out of it.

The Prime Minister was visibly angry.

The power of the League, Mr. Chamberlain returned, did not depend on nominal membership, but on the conviction of members to carry out their obligations.

"You will not find anywhere in the League the conviction that collective security can be applied," he declared.

"Why stay in it then?" a Labor back-bencher interrupted.

"I would stay in it," the Prime Minister returned, "because I have faith that the League may be reconstituted and because there is important and valuable work for the League to do today, but I doubt very much if it will do its best work so long as members are nominally bound to impose sanctions and use force."

"I would not change an article in the covenant," he proceeded. "I would leave it all there."

"And do nothing" came an opposition shout.

"I would not tear up a single article, not even Article XVI (the sanctions article) in the hope that some day the League will be reconstituted in such form that it may really be able to use those powers which were originally given it," the Prime Minister said.

NOT TO BE USED

"But I would have it clearly understood that the League not only cannot use them, but cannot be expected to use them, and that nations which remain in the League must not be saddled with what they are not prepared to undertake."

Mr. Chamberlain believed if the League were to throw off "shams and pretences" and make a declaration that sanctions are not to be applied, it would become a moral force influencing public opinion throughout the world.

DUCE DECLARED WEAK

Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, declaring Premier Mussolini was weak and anxious about Italy's internal condition, added:

"This has been a good week for dictators, one of the best they ever had. The German dictator (Hitler) laid his heavy hand on a small but historic country (Austria). The Italian dictator carried his vendetta to a successful conclusion against Mr. Eden."

"Mussolini has won again. The might, majesty and power of the British Empire has not been able to secure success of the cause which we entrusted to the late foreign secretary by the general will of Parliament."

last week, before noting that Mr. Dowling, engineer for the B.C. Insurance Underwriters' Association, fire branch, had declared the ladder unsafe three years ago. He suggested that, in view of the fact tenders had been reduced at a meeting of the wardens yesterday afternoon, $8,000 be put in the budget as a down payment on a new truck, to be purchased over a three-year term.

Fire Chief Alec Munroe told the council of work done a few years ago to improve the existing ladder. Those efforts had been unsuccessful, the firemen had lost confidence in the equipment and he would not care to use it himself, he said.

Alderman Morgan thought a new ladder should be secured. He would not like to pay more than $20,000. If it would cost more he thought the city should hold off until the price came down to that figure.

Alderman Ed Williams thought it would be false economy to work on the old ladder. He favored the three-year purchase plan.

In reply to remarks by Alderman Alec Peden, Alderman Morgan said prices had already been reduced and would come lower.

The council set its ladder price at a $20,000 maximum and reduced its first year's instalment to $7,500 in the estimates.

CAR VOTE CUT

A vote for a new car for the deputy chief was cut $300 to $1,200, and other items were approved.

In the sanitary department, debate arose over garbage removal. Alderman Williams reported on an interview with Capt. George Kirkendall, harbor master, who said tides were such it was almost impossible to prevent refuse from floating back towards the Dallas Road.

There might be some improvement if the citizens were educated into puncturing the cans they threw away. The alderman suggested the existing agreement be extended for one year.

City Engineer G. M. Irwin stated he had been informed the towing concern could take garbage out a greater way without passing the stipulated distance. The price for towing was cut $300 to $5,700.

Alderman James Adam again championed the plan to make a fill in Erie Street ravine. It would take a year to prepare the gully for a tip, Alderman Williams said.

The council cut the labor and material item $400 to $31,474 in the garbage department. The street cleaning estimate for labor and material was slashed $500 to an even $10,000.

Turning to the sewer department, the committee cut the item for labor and material on Government and Cecilia Streets projects $500 to $11,000. The surface drain and ditch vote was lowered $300 to $6,050. Repair estimates to outfalls and main surface drains, originally set at $3,000, was lowered to $2,500.

TO REPORT ON TRUCKS

Moves to reconstruct storm sewers at Crescent Road and Brook Street were stood over. Proposals to purchase new trucks and cars were referred to the mayor and public works committee for a report.

A reduction of $50 was made in the appropriation for small tools, which became $300, and the allowance for Elk Lake Farm and Park was chipped $30 to $670.

In the Sooke Lake system vote reductions totalling $400 were made to bring the vote down to $5,675.

Estimates for waterworks miscellaneous renewals were lowered $50 to $1,200, and those for repairs to hydrants $100 to $1,350. The vote for new valves and hydrants fell $500 to $2,000. The Elk Lake maintenance vote was cut $400 to $200. Another $90 was taken from the $730 Sooke Harbor maintenance item, before the vote for new mains there was halved to $2,500.

DEAN C. S. QUANTON PASSES IN LONDON

PREACHED IN ST. PAUL'S

Dean Quanton's career reached its climax on October 31 last when, at the invitation of the Bishop of London, he preached in St. Paul's Cathedral.

He will be mourned in Victoria as the man who, as much as any other, was responsible for the building of the new Christ Church Cathedral; one who, in his fearless preaching, cut largely across the boundary lines of denominations; a man whose interests outside the church were as broad as those within it.

He was one of the chief organizers of the Victoria Branch of the John Howard Society, for the rehabilitation of prisoners, he was active in his support of welfare organizations of all sorts, the Friendly Help, the Social Service League, the hospitals and the League of Nations Society. He was also an ardent advocate of sport.

The origin of the idea of a day shelter for unemployed men and the ultimate opening of the Citizens' Recreation Rooms, were due to Dean Quanton. The dean took an active interest in the work right up to the time he left the city.

Born in Gloucestershire, Dean Quanton went to Queen's College, Cambridge. His first curacy was at the biggest parish church in England, that of Great Yarmouth. After four and a half years there he became vicar at Christ Church, Mount Pelion, Yorkshire, and then for five years was vicar of Holmfirth, near Huddersfield.

He came to Canada in 1912 as a member of the Archbishop's Mission in the west. He spent three months at that time on the prairies, holding missions in Brandon, Edmonton, Calgary and other cities. He returned to his parish in Yorkshire, never expecting to see Canada again.

However, shortly after his mission trip the parish of St. Matthias at Brandon, Manitoba, became vacant. He was offered the position and accepted it. He returned to Canada in January, 1914, accompanied by his family, and filled the office of rector at Brandon until February, 1917, when he was appointed Dean of Christ Church Cathedral.

WITH BISHOP SCHOFIELD

Bishop C. D. Schofield and Dean Quanton began and ended their careers in the Diocese of Columbia at very much the same time.

Bishop Schofield was consecrated on St. Andrew's Day, November 30, 1916. Dean Quanton came to the old cathedral in the following February. Together they saw the new cathedral rise, took part in its consecration on September 29, 1929, and watched its growth into the seat of one of the most powerful parishes in Canada.

Bishop Schofield died on June 28, 1936. On September 21 of last year Dean Quanton said farewell to a host of friends and sailed with Mrs. Quanton for England. The Dean is survived by his widow, who is at present at Ruislip, and two sons, Eric in Victoria and Egan in Seattle. Both sons are married.

Farris Discusses Oriental Groups

TORONTO (CP)—The present may be an inopportune time to raise the Oriental question as British Columbia knows it, but the problem is steadily becoming more serious and must be squarely faced some day, Senator J. W. de B. Farris of British Columbia believes.

The senator Monday night told a joint dinner of the Toronto Board of Trade club and the young men's section of the Board of Trade as a prelude to his address on Canadian unity, that "no man from British Columbia is entitled to speak to a Canadian audience and gloss over the Oriental question."

"The Prime Minister says this is an inopportune time to bring this subject up, and I am willing to accept that view," Senator Farris said. "But this question, which is of such vital importance to every person in Canada, must be dealt with some day."

He was not speaking against "these people," he said, and not against their institutions. But at present they were incapable of assimilating Canadian democratic institutions. There were 25,000 or 30,000 Chinese, Hindus and Japanese in British Columbia at present, and no race in Canada was increasing as rapidly as the Japanese there.

Thus a large number of people were living there without a vote. They could not go on indefinitely that way, he contended.

Relief Costs of City To Continue Higher

Scant Hope For Greater Aid From Governments Foreseen in New Policies

The city of Victoria can expect continued increases in its relief costs as applied to maintenance of unemployables as the provincial government segregates jobless who could work and attempts to make them "rustle" for themselves, E. W. Griffith, provincial relief administrator, informed the City Council last night.

He appeared before the civic body to explain new regulations regarding the administration of relief. In the course of his remarks he held out scant hope for the city of securing aid to meet the increasing burden imposed by the rigid enforcement of rulings affecting the unemployables.

In turn he was met by the suggestion that if the costs mounted too heavily against Victoria, the city would throw up its hands and close the relief office.

The explanation took the form of an interview, with E. C. Snowden, city relief officer, and aldermen questioning Mr. Griffith.

He could give no idea of the costs to the city of the new policy until he determined the number of unemployables in Victoria. It would cost Vancouver roughly $300,000 a year more, he said.

Unemployables were determined by the Employment Service of Canada, which dealt with each applicant on his own merits.

The employables were divided into two classes: those who had never been employed and those who had deteriorated through falling morale, he said. It was the government's aim to teach the former how to work and to retrain the others with a view to new vocations, he said.

Plans called for the attendance of a city representative at inquiries at which city cases were to be interviewed, he said.

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar drew attention to cases of elderly men who, on account of their age, could not secure work in competition against younger men.

OLDER AGE DIFFICULTY

That was the purpose of the segregation, Mr. Griffith said. If a man, because of age and the fact that employers would not engage them, could not secure work, they could be classed as unemployables, he stated.

Unemployment was not, he thought, a continuous state, while indigency was.

Alderman S. H. Okell, relief committee chairman, said as far as he could see the government would put those who could work but could not secure employment under the Department of Labor. Unemployables would be thrown directly on the city. If that policy continued and the number of unemployables increased at the present rate, it would cost the city another $50,000 a year, he said.

Alderman John Worthington sought establishment of certain classes of selected labor in which those not entirely fit for any more arduous work could be employed.

The idea of segregating the employable was to handle such cases, Mr. Griffith said.

There was no provision for appeal from the Employment Service of Canada dictum on the employability or otherwise of individuals.

Mr. Snowden stated that doctors were more liable to declare cases unemployable than employable.

Those declared in the former class had, the city relief officer reported, on occasions, gone off the unemployable lists to secure work for themselves.

CITY COSTS TO MOUNT

Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan quoted figures to show that as the number of relief cases decreased, the percentage Victoria had to pay increased. Would that trend continue? he asked.

"Indeed it will," Mr. Griffith said.

A repetition of the provincial policy of cutting single men off relief for a period after March could be expected, he said.

It was possible several of the married units would also be cut off, Mr. Griffith added, stating there were several married people on relief who were making no effort to get employment.

"True enough we have put pressure on the municipalities to take over more unemployables," Mr. Griffith said as he cited the reduction from $260,000 to $115,000 in the amount advanced by the federal government to the province for relief. That cut had offset any benefit that had resulted from falling relief lists.

Alderman Dewar asked Mr. Griffith if he realized the unfairness of the relief burden, noting it cost Victoria three to one in comparison such municipalities as Oak Bay.

What, Alderman Williams

asked, would be the result of the city shutting its relief doors.

Mr. Griffith said he thought the city could improve its position by forcing more strongly those on relief to "get out and rustle for themselves." He explained methods by which the government had tried that policy successfully.

Mr. Griffith thought the suggested figure of $50,000 at which the city placed its estimated increased cost this year a little too high.

Influx of prairie jobless during the last five years had prevented B.C. from absorbing all its unemployables, he said.

Was there any reasonable expectation of aid from the province for the home owner in meeting the costs of unemployables, Alderman Okell asked.

The segregation would show the superior governments the problem and some assistance might be forthcoming when the problem became more clearly apparent, Mr. Griffith replied.

MUST FIGHT

"In other words," Alderman Alex Peden said, "the segregation will be made and the municipalities will have to fight for what they can get."

Mr. Griffith stated the province had protested against federal government rulings which prevented granting of lump-sum relief for rehabilitation.

In regard to unemployables, Mr. Griffith suggested the city might be biased in classification of cases through scrutiny of them from the financial angle.

"Remember this pressure from the federal government is going to become more and more drastic," he said in reference to reduced grants. He expected another cut in April.

The mayor suggested that as the unemployables increased and with it the attendant burden, the city would be forced to close its doors. "And then you'll have some fun," he added.

Question on the investigation of cases was answered by the mayor who stated the Employment Service of Canada would be the final judge.

The revenues of the province were increasing and those of the city were falling. Eventually the city would have to throw up its hands, Alderman Adam said.

"Yes, and put the responsibility where it belongs—on the federal government," Alderman Dewar added.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Griffith for his explanation.

WILL STUDY WATER ACTS

Failing a mutually satisfactory settlement of the water supply price question between Oak Bay and the city by the end of this month, the city solicitor will take steps to determine which of two existing water acts is binding on the rate issue.

Instructions to follow that course were given to the official last night by the City Council on the recommendation of the water committee.

A letter was also ordered despatched to the eastern municipality acknowledging receipt of a cheque for water supplied. The letter will state the cheque will be held by the city to be applied to payment on account of the water used by that municipality.

Oak Bay forwarded the cheque as payment for January water on the old rate of 7.5 cents per 1,000 gallons. It was received after the city had announced its price increase to 12.08 cents per 1,000 gallons.

No Restoration For City Staffs

The request of the City Hall Officials' Association for full restoration of salary cuts and special consideration for cases which had been too low to be reduced when the cuts were put into force will be acknowledged by the City Council.

The letter stated the members of the association still required 8 per cent to have their salaries restored to the 1934 levels. It also mentioned the employees had assisted materially in lessening the load on the taxpayers.

"How in the name of goodness have they contributed to helping the taxpayers," Mayor Andrew McGavin asked.

They had helped to keep the mill rate down by taking lower wages, Alderman John A. Worthington suggested.

Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan thought the request came too soon on the heels of restorations made last year.

Alderman S. H. Okell stated he favored restoring salaries, but questioned whether or not the time was ripe at present.

City Council Briefs

The City Council, by standing vote, last night paid tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Anne C. Spofford. In a resolution presented by Alderman John A. Worthington the council expressed its appreciation of the capabilities and wide humanitarian interests and service of the well-known city resident, and extended its sympathies to the bereaved family.

Having lain on the table for several weeks, the correspondence from city druggists, for and against alteration of the closing by-law for their profession, was finally received and filed last night.

In the opinion of Mayor Andrew McGavin the salary of the city police magistrate is $254, not $275 less 15 per cent reduction. The higher figure was quoted in a letter from the deputy provincial secretary, in which approval was given for that indemnity.

A letter from the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, including a bill for dues, was received and filed, with Alderman James Adam remarking the city was not intending to send anyone to the annual conference in Ottawa next month.

Permission to erect a canopy in front of premises at 881 Fort Street was granted.

A move-by the city solicitor to effect land registry changes definitely establishing the ownership of a parcel of land in the name of Mrs. W. Henry Ferguson was endorsed.

The council received and filed a letter from the Henry George Club recommending downward revision of assessments on improvements.

A communication from the Retail Merchants' Credit Granters regarding an interchange of data with the relief department on relief cases, was referred to the relief committee.

Establishment of a special fee payable to the city for advertising streamers stretched across downtown streets, will be studied by the finance committee and the city solicitor. A resolution to that effect was passed as the council granted Bryan Burdon-Murphy permission to display such a streamer, but to move it from its present location to the corner of Blanshard and Fort Streets.

A statement of wage rates for electrical workers, furnished by the Electric Workers Union, was referred to the lights committee.

Another letter from the Greater Vancouver Hydro Electric, regarding power rates and municipally-owned plants, was turned over to the B.C. Electric Franchise committee.

The public works committee was asked to look into a request from the Victoria Automobile Club for assistance in painting direction signs in the city.

A petition from business premises occupiers on Yates Street, near Government Street, seeking amendment of parking regulations in that section, was referred to the public works committee.

Question over possible residential restrictions for Hindus, Orientals and other aliens, was raised by Alderman R. A. C. Dewar, following reading of a petition from Percy E. George and 39 others seeking action from the city in improving the atmosphere of the Finlayson Road-Mars Street area, where several Hindus have their residence at present. What did the council wish to do with the matter? Alderman Dewar asked. Did it want to restrict them to certain districts? The council expressed the opinion it could not discriminate in the matter.

Loan of a truck to the forestry branch for one month, to transport men from the camp at Thetis Lake to Niagara Canyon, where development work will be done, was approved by the council.

A report on their last meeting at which aerial ladder truck tenders had been rejected and a decision reached to interview Oak Bay on the boundary-line hydrant question, was presented to the council by the fire-wardens. The wardens had decided not to make any alteration to a hydrant in the Willows Fair ground. J. Newell was thanked for his services as a member of the Victoria department. He will leave his city post to become a member of the Oak Bay force.

Lease of a lot on the north side of Fisgard Street, between Government and Douglas Streets, to the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Society, and sale of a parcel of land on the west side of Cook Street, between Queens and Empress, for $200, were approved on the recommendation of the lands committee.

Freedom For Man Who Killed Two

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Paul A. Wright, slayer of his wife and friend, John Kinnel, remained in the county psychopathic ward today, but the last barrier to his ultimate freedom had been cleared.

Superior Judge Ben B. Lindsey on Monday held that Wright is sane, therefore entitled to return to life among his fellow men.

However, he said he could not liberate him for five days, to give the district attorney's office an opportunity to move for a jury trial on his present mental condition.

J. Miller Leavy, deputy district attorney, said such action would be "ridiculous." This hearing settled the matter as far as the district attorney's office was concerned.

Canada Voted In League For Spain

Premier Informs Commons Last September's Session Wrongly Reported

OTTAWA (CP)—The veil of secrecy which covers some activities of the League of Nations was drawn aside by Prime Minister King when he revealed to the House of Commons Monday that in the vote on Spain's re-eligibility for election to the League Council last September, Canada supported Spain.

Reading from a prepared statement, the Prime Minister answered a question of M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F., Rosetown-Biggar, Sask., and said he was moved to reveal Canada's stand in the secret ballot on Spain lest "refusal to give the information might lead to renewed controversy and misrepresentation of Canada's position."

At the same time the Prime Minister made it clear Canada had voted for Spain as an entity, regardless of the government which represented it at the moment.

Two news reports from Europe by way of England last fall stated Canada had voted against Spain and there was considerable editorial criticism which, because of the secret nature of the ballot, the Prime Minister did not see fit to deny or confirm at that time.

Spain failed to obtain the necessary two-thirds vote of the Assembly to make that country eligible for re-election to the Council.

In his statement Monday the Prime Minister also told of the difficulties of delegations at Geneva acting quickly when they were called on to discuss their course of action with governments many thousands miles away.

No inquest is expected to be held.

Seattle Mayor Fails in Vote

Dore Not Nominated in Primaries; A. B. Langlie and V. A. Meyers Candidates

SEATTLE (AP)—Arthur B. Langlie, sandy-haired 37-year-old city councilman who outdistanced his nearest competitor nearly 2 to 1, and Lieut. Governor Victor A. Meyers, dapper former jazz band leader, were nominated at the mayoralty primaries Monday as incumbent Mayor John F. Dore failed to win renomination.

Unofficial returns from the city's 508 precincts gave: Langlie 50,389, Meyers 27,263, Dore 21,369, Councilman William Norton 10,508, and Joseph A. Sweeney 7,729.

Meyers, member of the A.F. of L. Musicians' Union, had support of the C.I.O. unions. Dore boasted the support of Dave Beck, western teamster head, and other A.F. of L. unions, including the Central Labor Council. Dore branded the C.I.O. "Communist." Langlie said he was "impartial."

In the councilman race, with six to be nominated for the three contested seats, incumbent Mrs. F. F. Powell led with 57,154 votes.

She was followed by John F. Carroll, 39,450; James T. Sullivan, state legislator, 29,673; Michael B. Smith, state legislator, 27,096; Samuel J. Humes, 25,739, and former Mayor Dr. Edwin J. Brown, 25,577.

Robert Jones, West Seattle haberdasher, had 25,223 votes, and absentee ballots may win him nomination.

Soviet to Execute Veterinarians

MOSCOW (AP)—Eleven veterinarians were sentenced to death Monday at Ordjonikidze in the Caucasus on charges of spreading epidemics which resulted in the loss of more than 80,000 head of livestock in five years.

They were accused of inoculating 200 cows with parathoid germs before sending them to slaughter. As a result a large number of soldiers and workers were poisoned.

Two of the sentences were suspended because the court had decided the men could be used further as specialists.

Two employees in a packing house at Dagestan were sentenced to death on charges of disrupting the meat supply for industrial centres and spreading disease in the army.

New Relief Rules To Work Hardship

NANAIMO—The school trustees submitted estimated expenditures of $80,417 to the city council last night.

The streets committee, through City Engineer Graham, submitted estimates of $30,760 and the estimates of the garbage and sewerage committee amounted to $11,350.

New government plans for unemployment relief will work a great hardship on Nanaimo and on every municipality in the province, Alderman J. Kerr remarked, when a letter from E. W. Griffiths, administrator of unemployment relief at Victoria, was read.

Mr. Kerr thought the matter should be dealt with immediately by the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

Dean Quainton

NEARLY SIX MONTHS AGO DEAN Quainton left Victoria to take up less strenuous work in his native land. In the back of his mind were plans to remain in Britain about two years. At the expiration of that time he intended to come back to Victoria and end his days among us here. The Master whom he served so long, so wholeheartedly, and always faithfully, has changed those plans. The servant of Christ whom we knew well, who was the exemplar of all that for which real manhood stands, has passed into the unknown to rest with the immortals.

To say that the untimely death of Dean Quainton will be a blow to many in Canada in general and in this and neighboring communities of the Pacific Northwest in particular, is to give a wholly inadequate expression to the sense of personal loss which his passing will occasion. Dean Quainton was much more than a distinguished officer of the Church of his faith. No hard and fast ecclesiastical ritual or usage could circumscribe his philosophy of life. The remarkably fine qualities of his mind were always in tune with the realities of our time. His understanding of and sympathy with human tribulation and the many frailties of mankind found their source in the generous heart of his heart.

The essential attributes of the real man—the man of vision as well as the man of action, the man with the clear perspective and the guardian of a balanced sense of values—were possessed by Dean Quainton. His respect for orthodoxy was not impaired by the elasticity of his mental outlook. He always spoke his mind when once he had been persuaded that any cause he espoused was right. He had reason to value this catholicity of thought: Those to whom he ministered, whether from the pulpit, in the home, in the hospital, or on the street were its beneficiaries.

The Times sincerely sympathizes with his sorrowing family and expresses the hope that they will find some consolation as they contemplate a life so well and fully lived.

More Opportunity Here

FOR SO MANY YEARS WAS IT THE CUSTOM for Canadians to regard the United States as the land of opportunity to which young men of the Dominion turned when they were ready to embark upon careers, that the striking reversal in the condition which figures on unemployment reveal proves rather startling. The Royal Bank of Canada, in analyzing the figures for the two countries, brings out that, excluding farmers receiving relief and who are not properly classed as unemployed, there is about one-fifth the unemployment in Canada that there is in the United States.

Dealing with industrial workers, the bank's report on the subject points out that the number of industrial workers who are now dependent upon aid from the Dominion Government for their support was 115,000 in September. Since the population of the United States is about 13 times that of Canada, it will not be until industrial unemployment has been reduced to a point where there are only 1,500,000 employable industrial workers seeking jobs in the United States that conditions in industry in that country can be said to be equivalent to those in Canada in the latter part of 1937. Interpretations of the results of the November census of unemployment modified by the subsequent decline in employment in the United States gives the number of unemployed as somewhere between 10 and 12 million.

In this connection it is learned that many workers in the United States are looking upon Canada with envious eyes, and U.S. citizens lead the number of immigrants who have come to Canada recently.

The Vulnerable Sex

AMONG HUMANS, THE MALE IS THE more vulnerable of the species. Analysis of the latest mortality figures, released by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, shows that each of the more important causes of death, with few exceptions, has a higher rate among males than among females.

Men are engaged in more hazardous occupations and take part in more dangerous sports, on the whole, than women. This may account for some of the sex difference that shows in the mortality figures. Part of it, however, is due to an inherent vulnerability, as shown by the fact that even in very early childhood, when boys and girls are living essentially the same sort of life, the male shows a higher death rate than the female.

Four times as many white men as women are the victims of homicide and men are much more apt to take their own lives than women are. Syphilis, heart and kidney ailments, pneumonia, tuberculosis, appendicitis and influenza each kills more men than women. Cancer, on the other hand, kills slightly more women than men. Of the childhood diseases, only whooping cough shows a sex difference in the mortality figures. This disease kills more young girls than boys.

"Stakes All On Italy"

SAYS THE LONDON NEWS-CHRONICLE: "Premier stakes all on Italy." Said the London Star yesterday: "Mr. Eden represents the victory of timidity over principle, of nerves over character, of shortsighted calculations over the long view. The international principles for which this country has stood are surrendered to buy certain protection from a man to whom treaties are scraps of paper."

Premier Chamberlain has figuratively torn up the League of Nations covenant and this afternoon shouted to an angry opposition that the Geneva body as protection against aggression was "a delusion" and demanded its "shams and pretenses" be thrown off. (The League began to become a delusion, of course, soon after reactionary Toryism got in the saddle at Westminster—remember Manchuria and the rest.) Deputy leader of the Labor party Arthur Greenwood says "the fate of the world rests in the trembling hands" of Prime Minister Chamberlain. Negotiations for a "new deal" between Britain and Italy are to begin at once.

The British people have been told by Prime Minister Chamberlain that unless Great Britain makes her peace with Mussolini there may be a war between the two nations. So the British people have to ask themselves what manner of man the Premier of Italy is that cracks the whip and expects them, without hesitation, to jump through the hoop. History tells them.

Fifteen years ago, Italy and the whole world was stirred by the murder of the Italian moderate Socialist leader, Signor Matteotti. That was at the beginning of the reign of terror instituted by the man to whom Mr. Eden refused to bow down. He was then and still is the shirtless leader of Fascism, which is "a movement born of fear, nurtured on violence and sustained by intolerance."

In the summer of 1924, Senator Albertini, deposed editor of the famous Corriere della Sera of Milan, and at the risk of his own life, alluded in the Italian Chamber of Deputies to "the mental torture of those who oppose your government," who "do not turn your eyes with horror of Matteotti's corpse, pierced by a dozen wounds."

Senator Albertini, stripped by Mussolini of his journalistic authority and threatened with every kind of violence, then wound up his peroration as follows: "Among the many anxieties of this hour, one especially afflicts me—the thought that men of democratic and liberal mind have adapted themselves to this fashion of violence, remembering only the antecedent Socialist acts of violence and allowing their faith in liberty to be insulted and trodden underfoot without ever thinking of the enormous difference between abuses or crimes committed by minorities, or by individuals outside the law, and the crimes perpetrated with impunity by the ruling party that administers the law—that party whose chiefs frequently threaten with 'execution' those who dare to differ from them in thought and speech."

Mr. Eden has dared to differ with a British Prime Minister who not only seems afraid to tell the Duke that he will not be browbeaten by him but who also seems in a desperate hurry to placate the man to whom Senator Albertini directed the above remarks. Mussolini has not changed. We wonder what the rank and file of Britons think, by the way, of a Prime Minister of Britain who virtually says of the only great peace organization ever established—"away with it."

TAKING IT "OUT OF POLITICS"

From Toronto Star
Those who advocate the unification of Canada's railway systems are saying now that the issue should be "taken out of politics." This has a plausible sound, but what does it mean?

It means that the issue should be taken out of the hands of the people's representatives who are responsive, naturally, to the wishes of the people, and should be settled instead by some group of "business men" who have their own ideas about what ought to be done.

They hope, of course, to have not only the issue but shortly the National Railway itself "out of politics"—that is, out of public ownership. So they talk about Canada's debt burden (which we have already shown to be lighter today than in the immediate post-war period), and they denounce "political control," which is just another name for "people's control," and they suggest that business men could soon settle this railway question. The fact is that the politicians and their efficient railway executives know more about operating a national railway system than most of their critics, whose business experience has been along other lines. There are, of course, with plenty of railway experience who advocate unification. But they happen to be the operators of the National's leading competitor, the Canadian Pacific. And it is not usual for public ownership to take its advice from competing private ownership. Nor wise.

CORILLA

MR. HEYWOOD BROWN, the jolly bad boy of American journalism, has lately been making an investigation of gorillas. He has seen a gorilla in a circus which can drive an automobile, provided someone else shifts the gears for him, and Mr. Brown admits that he is no better than the gorilla. He has never been able to learn how to shift the gears either.

There is no reason, says Mr. Brown, why a gorilla can't be taught to shoot a gun, and in that case he may yet inherit the earth. For as force is now the supreme test of fitness in the world, the gorilla might well claim to be more fit to survive than that weak creature called man.

The question which worries Mr. Brown as he looks about the world today is this: If we have ascended from the gorilla, we may yet descend to return to our fathers. It would only take a few dozen centuries at the present rate. And when the gorillas have taken it back again, the world may know some peace. But Mr. Brown is probably too pessimistic. The gorilla is still a long way from most of the drivers on our British Columbia roads. He still has to learn to shift the gears. Most of our drivers know how to do that. Otherwise there is no noticeable difference in their driving.

POOR-MEN

AMONG a bundle of ancient papers today I came across a photograph of the Provincial Legislature taken about 12 years ago. It filled me with many rousing memories that would be of no interest to the public, which only remembers the existence of the Legislature on the day it opens and the cannons boom. But what is interesting is the destiny which has followed the 48 members of the Legislature shown in the picture. It is interesting because it shows the complete fallacy of the notion that men prosper and grow fat in politics—fat, I mean in a financial sense, for physically that is exactly how they do grow.

Checking the picture over name by name and face by face, I cannot find a single man among the legislators who has grown rich. A few are comfortably off. Most of them are poor. One is Prime Minister and thinner. Several—good old Jack Buckham, Mike Manson, Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, Chris McRae—are dead. One member is a judge. Another is a farmer practically on relief. Another sells whisky and seems to do fairly well. Another sells still more whisky as liquor commissioner for British Columbia. One is a night watchman. One is Canada's Minister of Defence. (He was a mere strippling then.) One is an insurance salesman. One has just gone flat broke in a business deal. One is a successful undertaker. One is a professional race track character. The Prime Minister of that day, Dr. MacLean, is a civil servant in Ottawa. And good old Harry Pooley is growing primroses as usual in Esquimalt—a fine, legendary figure.

So you see, young man, that if you want to get rich don't go into politics. As I calculate the figures of this picture, your chance of getting out of politics reasonably wealthy is just one in 48. Your chance of going out flat broke and ruined is about 50-50. Your chance of getting a permanent job is one in 24. Your chance of gaining anything but unhappiness is practically nil.

BATTLESHIPS

THE AMERICAN newspapers and reviews are publishing a lot of complaints about the modern science of automobile engineering. Many writers insist that car designers are making their models more dangerous every year, and a number of motorists say they are going to keep their old cars because they are safer.

The chief complaint is that the modern car's visibility is exceedingly poor, windshield space having been sacrificed to style until it is getting so that you have to look out through a narrow slit, whereas in the old Model T Ford touring you were perched up in the air and could see the whole world at a glance. You didn't need to be there, traveling at Model T speed, but traveling at modern speed you need to see everything like a camera. And of course you can't. The modern car is getting more like a submarine in design every year, and soon the driver will be expected to look out of them through a periscope. Probably, also, some thoughtful manufacturer will equip his car with a movie camera so that, on returning home after a tour through scenic country, the motorist, on developing the film, may see for the first time the beauty of the country through which he passed at 100 miles an hour. Every engineer knows, of course, that the design of cars is fundamentally wrong and that the driver, as on the modern motor bus, should be in front of everything so that his view isn't shut off by the hood, which is now so large that you cannot see a seven-year-old child beside your right mudguard. But the existing style looks prettier. It is what the public demands. It appeals to women as smart. It is the fashion, and when you think how women risk their health with the clothes they wear nowadays, a little thing like safety in cars won't interest them. It is getting, indeed, so the unfortunate manufacturer must make his car practically like a battleship so that it may run into some thing or turn over without killing the occupants because by statistics he knows that sooner or later it is bound to run into something and turn over. Soon we shall be driving dreadnoughts on wheels, getting our directions through our car radios and steering by compass.

Washington's Birthday

By W. ORTON TEWSON

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S birthday is now, and properly, February 22, but he was born on February 11, and his birthday was February 11, every year from 1732 to 1752. After 1752 his birthday fell upon February 22. This shifting of an apparently fixed date was caused by Britain's refusal, up to 1752, to accept the Gregorian calendar in place of the Julian calendar. It was not until 1790 that Washington's birthday was publicly celebrated on February 22 instead of February 11, and it was the Tammany Society of New York who thus first publicly honored Washington.

I recall the surprise I got a few years ago when a biography bearing the title, "John Hanson: Our First President," was published. I had always believed that George Washington was the first President of the United States, and yet here was a book—by a responsible writer, Seymour Wemyss Smith—in which it was stated that, eight years before Washington's election, John Hanson of Maryland had served in that great office for one year!

Furthermore, Mr. Smith—who dedicated his book "to all great men who have been passed over in history"—offered proofs, in the shape of quotations from official documents and private correspondence, in support of his contention that eight years before the election of George Washington, John Hanson was elected President of the United States.

The explanation is this: On November 5, 1781, John Hanson of Maryland was elected by the Continental Congress, "President of the United States in Congress Assembled." The election was the first act of Congress of the United States, on its first day of existence.

FROM "BILLY" MORESBY
To the Editor:—In connection with the acquisition by the J.B.A.A. of a suitable location with waterfrontage, I, along with others, feel highly elated at the efforts being put forward by the younger members to establish themselves in suitable quarters for club purposes with waterfrontage.

By the individual efforts involving personal expense and labor the active members of the organization have completed the foundation for a building suitable for the club's activities. The further sum of $3,000 is required to complete the building.

During the last 39 years, as an active member for the greater part of that period and latterly as one of the directors, I have no hesitation in stating that the J.B.A.A. is an organization that our city should be proud of.

Without enlarging upon what has been accomplished may I, through your columns, invite the attention of all who are interested in the promotion of clean, amateur sport to the need of financial assistance to the organization for the purpose of the completion of the proposed building for club purposes.

I understand that some of the active members intend to solicit subscriptions, and I sincerely hope their efforts will be successful. Victoria cannot afford, if her citizens are interested in the welfare of the youth of this city, to allow one of the oldest organizations on the Pacific Coast having for its objects the promotion of amateur sport, including rowing, to become inactive.

URGES WRITING TO M.P.'S

TO THE EDITOR:—Let me join the many other readers in protesting against the proposed increase in the radio license fee. I will go to jail rather than pay $2.50 to the CBC. I listen only to good programs from the United States, where the air is free. Every M.P. with any brains will take a firm stand along with Gordon Graydon, M.P., against this latest injustice. That is, if they wish to be re-elected. We must continue our fight until the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is abolished. I suggest that every radio owner write direct to the M.P. for their respective ridings. It is not even necessary to use a postage stamp on a letter to the M.P., House of Commons, Ottawa, and it will help to win a successful campaign against the CBC.

VISION WEEK OPENS MONDAY

Campaign For Proper Care of Eyes to Be Staged in Victoria

A week's campaign to attract public attention on the proper care of one of man's greatest assets, his sight, will be opened in Victoria and other Vancouver Island points next Monday, under the sponsorship of the British Columbia Optometric Association.

Plans for "Save Your Vision" week were discussed at a meeting of the council of the association in the Empress Hotel Saturday night, under the chairmanship of Harry F. Perrin, Vancouver, president.

A committee composed of A. A. Blyth (chairman), A. P. Blyth, David Sinclair, H. A. Stein and Howard Taylor was appointed to handle the arrangements.

Although vision was the most essential of all human faculties, eye troubles were often neglected far beyond the point of seriousness where medical help was sought for other ailments, said Mr. Perrin.

"Optometrists are often reporting that their patients come to them only after long neglect has brought discomfort and even harm. The logical solution is regular annual attention so that the optometrist may be enabled to render the care merited by the value of vision," he said.

Other plans for Victoria discussed by the council included the continuance of the clinic for indigent school children, conducted in co-operation with the schools; additions to the program of the local study group in accordance with the latest studies in optometry, and preliminary discussions of a proposed seminar for post-graduate work during the summer.

Mr. Perrin, Willson Knowlton, secretary, and Lorne Smith, T. A. Littleton and Irvine Blyth, Vancouver members of the council, came to Victoria to attend the conference.

Shrine Band In Joint Concert

Featuring a cornet trio, a sousaphone solo, and special arrangements from operettas and folk songs, the Shrine Band has arranged a well balanced program of contrasting music for the joint concert to be given by the band and the Masonic Choir in the Empress Hotel on March 2.

Under the direction of Lieut. James Miller, the band will open its program with the spirited number, "The Banner March," which will be followed by the popular overture, "Morning, Noon and Night."

This will be followed by the cornet trio, comprising George Green, James Mossop and Jack Miller in "The Three Solitaires." This number will be succeeded by an arrangement of the best known of Victor Herbert's melodies after which William Handley will play a sousaphone solo, displaying the depth of the B flat bass in a number entitled "Deep Bass."

As the concluding group on the program the band will play the ballet music and "Soldiers March" from "William Tell," and an arrangement of Irish airs. There also will be two concerted numbers by hand and choir.

The proceeds from the concert will be used to purchase music so that new programs can be arranged for the worthy causes these two organizations support.

Chamber to Meet More Frequently

A new policy of having more frequent general meetings of the membership has been decided on by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

The first meeting under the new plan will be held at 8 to-morrow evening in the chamber auditorium. Chairmen of the various committees will give reports and members will be given the opportunity to bring up any matters they consider should be discussed by the chamber.

Following the general meeting E. A. Gorton of Imperial Airways will give an address illustrated by motion pictures, showing the extent of the company's worldwide services.

CATARRAH DEAF- NESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Earman's Ear-Deaf-ness-Overcome. Add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus step dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Esquimalt Council Briefs

Esquimalt's total taxable assessment was lowered by $1,725 by the 1938 court of revision, it was stated last night as the court, composed of the whole municipal council, adopted the amended assessment roll and dissolved itself. Of the total reduction $300 was on land and $1,425 on improvements.

Offers of $1,000 of municipal 5 per cent sewer loan bonds, maturing in 1963, at 87 plus accrued interest, and of $1,000 of 6 per cent bank overdraft bonds, maturing in 1943, at 98.50 and accrued interest, were accepted by the Esquimalt Council last night from C. M. Oliver and Company. After the purchase had been ordered, Councillor Thomas Hadfield, chairman of the finance committee, said the municipality now had bought back out of sinking fund surpluses $143,000 of the $400,000 sewer loan issue and $12,000 of the $30,000 bank overdraft bonds.

Sewer frontage rates and rentals this year will yield Esquimalt $648 more than in 1937. Percy McCulloch, foreman of works, told the council last night. The frontage rate this year is nine cents per foot front, as against eight cents last year. Mr. McCulloch's report showed a gross levy of $13,840.32, with $6,240.00 deducted for reverted property, leaving a net frontage rate collection of $7,599.66. The addition of sewer rentals raises the figure to $9,137.16 for the year.

The council accepted the municipal school board's estimates for the year with the comment the figures represented an increase of about half of one mill in the school levy from last year.

The council decided to use $250 offered by the provincial government for playground development for the fencing of Bullen's Park at the corner of Fraser and Lyall Streets, after Reeve Alexander Lockley had said pedestrians taking short-cuts across the park had worn a pathway which ruined the football field there. The proposal is for a seven-foot wire fence.

A suggestion that a gate be placed across the entrance of Saxe Point Park, at the foot of Fraser Street, and locked at night was put forward by Councillor Albert Heald, who complained of the number of couples parking cars there after dark.

A request from the Gorge Hotel Limited for permission to erect a coffee and sandwich stand on the beer parlor property was referred to the zoning board after Reeve Lockley had commented he had been assured there would be no nuisance from the smell of frying hot dogs and hamburgers.

Esquimalt has no funds available for a grant to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, the council decided. The bureau, in a letter received at the meeting, asked for $500.

The council ordered payment of a grant of $25 to the Salvation Army.

Councillor Thomas Hadfield was reappointed the council's representative on the board of directors of the Macaulay Point Golf Club, which operates under an agreement with the municipality.

The council will hold a brief special meeting on Wednesday evening to consider two offers for pieces of property on Wolaston Street and Admirals Road. The offers could not be debated last night because the Tax Sale Lands Sale By-law, given final reading at the meeting, will not be technically in force until it is officially entered today.

INSTRUCTED TO MOVE PATIENTS

The city health and relief officers were instructed to proceed with arrangements for the care of patients being discharged from the Jubilee Hospital annex by the City Council last night as it approved the recommendation of the health and relief committees to that effect.

The council also supported the joint committee in declining a grant of $150 to the Central Exchange on the grounds that organization was participating in the benefits of the Community Chest.

Votes of thanks were expressed to the Junior Women's Auxiliaries of St. Joseph's and the Jubilee Hospital for their splendid work in the interests of the hospital.

The building inspector was instructed to report on the costs of making the necessary changes and improvements required to certain buildings in the grounds of the Isolation Hospital as the council supported the fourth clause of the committee's report.

Walter E. Adams was returned as president and warmly thanked for his work during the last 12 months. G. N. Mowat is vice-president, Clarence Johns, secretary, and Mrs. N. W. Mitchell, treasurer.

The new executive committee was chosen as follows: Mrs. B. A. Boate, E. Cooper, Capt. W. Ellis, J. V. Johnson, C. B. McIntosh and S. Flanagan.

Honorary presidents are Hon. T. D. Pattullo, K.C., L.L.D.; F. W. Mayhew, M.P.-elect; Hon. John Hart and W. T. Straith, M.P.P. in his report of the year's work Mr. Adams spoke of the two election campaigns in which the organization had taken part, the provincial general election last June and the federal bye-election in November. He noted that the Liberals had recorded considerable gains in the Oak Bay wards.

Carew Martin, president of Victoria Liberal Association, was the only speaker. He congratulated the association on the splendid work done during the year and pledged his own efforts to lead the central organization on to new endeavors.

NO LIABILITY ON LEASE SITE

Over the strenuous opposition of Alderman Ed. Williams, supported by three other aldermen, the City Council last night decided to establish the practice of posting notices on construction projects on property it may lease disclaiming any liability in connection with the building operations.

H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, recommended the council take the action.

Alderman Williams saw in the move a measure which would reflect on the standing of the contracting firm and leasing interests.

On the vote Aldermen W. H. Davies, Peden and James Adam cast their ballots against the suggestion.

PAY TRIBUTE TO OFFICIAL

High tribute to the service given the city by James McL. Muirhead, senior of the city comptroller - treasurer's department during his 29 years in the corporation's employ, was paid by Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan, finance committee chairman, as the resignation of the official was accepted by the City Council last night.

Mr. Muirhead, who asked for retirement on superannuation in a letter to the finance committee, will continue his duties at the committee's request until May 31.

Mr. Muirhead joined the city staff in March, 1909.

W. O. Wallace Will Head Trade Group

BRENTWOOD — W. O. Wallace has been nominated president of the Saanich Board of Trade, other officers being as follows: Honorary president, R. P. Butchart; vice-president, J. E. Sladen; secretary, W. H. McNally; auditor, L. D. Goddard; treasurer, M. Atkins; council, Reeve William Crouch, Councillor L. C. Hagan, Capt. Nat Gray, G. Hafer, W. Thorne, Trustee Tomes, E. Sery and W. C. Kersey.

These names will be voted on at the next monthly meeting.

At last week's meeting Councillor Hagan told of progress made in the control of mosquitoes on the Island View tide flats.

A discussion on the increased cost of water in Saanich was led by Reeve Crouch. Members said they were against costs so high they would prove a hardship to householders and be bad for agriculture.

The board endorsed the petition of residents of Moodyville asking the Saanich council to take over a portion of the lot at the corner of Peden Lane and Verdier Avenue and eliminate a dangerous turn.

Urges Tax On Slot Machines

A proposal to give official recognition to pin ball and other coin-in-the-slot machines and to levy a tax on them will be considered at the next meeting of the Esquimalt Council.

Scottish Unit Has Inspection

Colonel H. C. Greer Carries
Out Annual Review of First Battalion

Before 1,500 spectators who crowded the galleries, the First Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, paraded for its annual battalion inspection in the Bay Street Armories last night.

The inspection was carried out by Colonel H. C. Greer, district supply and transport officer and acting district officer commanding Military District No. 11. The battalion paraded in full service members elected at the polls in January, gave notice at last night's meeting of a motion to that effect.

The motion calls for the council to "pass an act legalizing... and taxing all pin-ball games, slot machines, vending machines, etc., the tax to be not less than $10 per year."

The notice of motion was received without comment.

dress, with pipe and brass bands in attendance.

After the King's and regimental colors had been played on and saluted by the battalion, Colonel Greer took up his post at the saluting base established on the south side of the Armories. He received the general salute from the battalion, drawn up in review order.

After the general salute, the inspecting officer, accompanied by the commanding officer and company officers, walked along the ranks and inspected the men. The battalion then marched past the saluting base in column of companies and column of fours.

Following the ceremonial part of the parade, battalion and company drills were carried out under the senior company and platoon officers, and Colonel Greer watched the work of the stretcher bearers and light automatic sections. Stores, records and the various adjuncts of the battalion were also inspected.

WINTER'S HARVEST OF SICKNESS CHECKED BY FOOD HABITS

The toll of pneumonia, flu and colds rises as the temperature falls. Human vitality reaches its lowest ebb, resistance is enfeebled. Lack of exercise, fresh air and proper foods is largely the cause. Now, eighty, he enjoys robust, vigorous health winter and summer, and literally defies sickness, disease and colds. This remarkable record of health is due to proper eating and natural living. Anyone can accomplish this desirable state who follows the doctor's methods. Start today by eating Roman Meal, the vitalizing, mineral-rich cereal, and drinking Kofy-Sub at each meal. This delicious, alkaline, iron-rich beverage contains no caffeine. Soon you will be amazed at the improvement in your state of well-being. BURNSIDE-MACINNES

A marriage took place at 8 last night at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, between Arthur Patrick Burnside, of 512 Fraser Street, Esquimalt, and youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Matthew H. Burnside, London, Eng., and grandson of the late Matthew MacFarland Burnside, surgeon, Royal Navy, flagship Winchester in 1831, and Mrs. Dorothy Frances Mary Wood MacInnes, 2166 Central Avenue, Oak Bay, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Kerr of "Lorna Doone," Balmoral, Ireland.

The bride wore a sapphire blue satin gown with lace overdress and blue net hat with gold bandeau and gold sandals, and carried a small purse with gold and silver rhinestones. Her only ornament was an antique gold and enamel locket which belonged to her mother's family. The bride and groom were unattended. Mr. Gilmour Powell gave the bride away. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Macdougall were the witnesses.

Little two-year-old Heather May Macdougall acted as flower girl and was very pretty in a maize silk taffeta dress with green trimmings and carried a basket of yellow crocuses.

The church organist, Mr. F. T. C. Wickett, played the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin," and other wedding music.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnside were at home in the evening to a few intimate friends. Mrs. D. Macdougall and Miss Doris LePage assisted Mrs. Burnside in receiving her guests.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Burnside left for a honeymoon trip, the bride wearing a brown net frock, marmot coat and brown accessories.

Delightful
Hosts at "Riffington"

In celebration of the birthday of George Washington and as their first social function since their arrival in Victoria a short time ago, Mr. Reed Paige Clarke, U.S. consul, and Mrs. Clarke, were "at home" to a large number of guests at their residence, "Riffington," the Uplands, this afternoon.

They were assisted in receiving their guests by Col. and Mrs. Randolph Coyle, and Mr. R. Newcomb, U.S. vice-consul. White jonquils formed the floral decoration in the room where dancing was held. Bridge also formed part of the afternoon's entertainment.

Don't take needless risks with CHEST COLDS

Relieve Their Misery
This Proved Way

WHEN there's a cold to treat—especially if it's a chest cold—that's no time to experiment. Relieve the misery with the treatment that has been doubly proved for you.

Here's What To Do: It's best to stay in bed and get lots of rest. Eat lightly, drink plenty of water, and keep elimination regular. And use your dependable Vicks VapoRub without delay.

VapoRub has been proved by everyday use in more homes than any other medication of its kind—further proved by the largest clinical tests ever made on colds. (Full details in every VapoRub package.) Only Vicks give you proof like this.

VapoRub is direct external treatment. No "dosing"—no stomach upsets. Just massage it on throat, chest, and back. Then—to make its long-continued double action last even longer—spread a thick layer on the chest and cover with a warm cloth.

No Long Waiting for Relief to Begin... Almost before you finish rubbing, you begin to feel warm and comfortable as VapoRub goes to work direct through the skin like a poultice. At the same time its medicated vapors, released by the warmth of the body, are carried direct to the irritated air-passages with every breath.

This double action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation and coughing—helps break local congestion. And long after restful sleep comes, VapoRub keeps on working.

Home Mission Field Needs Helpers

Presbyterian W.M.S. Told of Need in Isolated Sections

The need of young men and women to engage in home mission service in the scattered communities throughout Canada was emphasized by Miss Lamont, traveling and field secretary for the Presbyterian W.M.S. in her challenging address at the opening public session of the annual meeting of the Victoria Presbyterian last night.

The meeting was held in the lecture room of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Mrs. A. A. McKinnon, Presbyterian president, in the chair.

Miss Lamont recalled her experiences over a period of many months in the drought areas in the prairie provinces. In southern Saskatchewan many communities lacked church facilities and ministers, while in the northern part women had formed W.M.S. groups to meet the need.

Many of the families had moved to the Peace River district and to more hopeful parts of Alberta, where in scattered communities they were trying to eke out an existence.

There, too, there was need of home missions, Miss Lamont said, and she appealed to the older, established churches to do all in their power to encourage young men and women to engage in home mission service and to make them realize the great field open to them in this work of Christianizing Canada.

Mrs. F. W. Allott, president of St. Andrew's W.M.S., tendered a warm welcome to the delegates. Rev. James Hyde brought greetings from the Presbytery, and Rev. T. H. McAllister spoke on behalf of the synod. Rev. J. Mackie Niven conducted the devotional exercises.

Mrs. Elsie Ridgway sang the solo, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say." Mrs. James Hyde playing the piano accompaniment.

Mrs. J. Scott, corresponding secretary, read the annual report, which showed a successful year in which considerable progress had been made in all branches of W.M.S. work. Increased effort on the part of the junior societies was noted, the C.G.T. had increased their membership and the Home Helpers were doing good work.

Directoire Line Returns to Style

PARIS (CP-Havas)—The Vionnet collection now on exhibition is chiefly distinguished for its dexterous use of the directoire line, lending the feminine figure the long-limbed look of the women of Athens.

Vionnet has designed nearly all her evening gowns after the directoire models, themselves inspired by the Greek silhouette. High-waisted and draped across the bust, flowing down in sculptured lines, these formal gowns have an even, circular décolleté.

Vionnet has apparently succumbed to the current innovation of no shoulder-straps on evening gowns.

Russ Rebholz To Return to 'Peg

WINNIPEG — Manager Joe Ryan yesterday learned that Russ Rebholz, star halfback of Winnipeg Blue Bombers when they won the Canadian rugby championship in 1935, hoped to return to Bombers next fall.

Rebholz, recognized as the greatest forward passer in western Canada football history, came to Winnipeg in 1932 from University of Wisconsin, and was a star here until he returned to his home at Portage, Wis., at the close of the 1936 season.

News of Clubwomen

The regular meeting of the Adult Youth Fellowship Group of First United Church was held after the evening service on Sunday evening, the guest speaker being Miss Helen Kirkwood, secretary of the Y.W.C.A., who chose as her subject, "Youth's Challenge." Miss Kirkwood outlined in brief some of the most important decisions and conclusions reached at the Students' Conference held recently at Winnipeg. At the next meeting the group will have Mr. F. At the home of the president, Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, 1149 Oliver Street, the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Victoria Musical Festival Association, held its first meeting of the 1938 season on Friday. An active campaign was planned to acquaint the public with the fact that copies of the syllabus may be obtained at Willis Piano Co., Fletcher Bros. Music Store, Clark and Nixon's, and the music departments at Hudson's Bay and Spencer's. The next meeting of the auxiliary will be held at Mrs. P. A. Gibbs' home, 773 Island Road, Oak Bay, at 2:45 on Wednesday, March 2.

An interested gathering of women met at the home of the president, Mrs. Holland on the occasion of the Frances Willard W.C.T.U. annual meeting. Devotional period consisted of the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." Scripture reading and prayer led by two of the members. A letter from Mrs. Lamb was read, thanking the ladies for parcels of reading matter that had been sent to camps. The meeting went on record as favoring an official flag for Canada. Members responded to the roll call by reading articles descriptive of Miss Willard's life and work. Reports showed 27 sick calls made. An article from the Christian Science Monitor was also read. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction, after which the hostess served refreshments.

BEWARE THE DROOPS

MOTHER LEARNS TO AVOID FLARE-UPS

THIS NOISE OF YOURS IS TOO MUCH! STOP IT AND GO OUT TO PLAY. AND DO TRY TO KEEP QUIET.

WHENEVER THE RIGOROUS ROUTINE OF HOUSEWORK MAKES YOU CROSS OR IRRITABLE, DON'T BLAME THE CHILDREN—BLAME THE DROOPS! THE DROOPS ROB YOU OF YOUR GOOD NATURE AND YOUR PATIENCE. GET RID OF THEM BY RELAXING OVER A PLEASANT, REFRESHING CUP OF TEA.

TEA TAKES THE DROOPS OUT OF WORK

AT 8 AM. AT 11 AM. AT 1 PM. AT 4 PM. AT 6 PM.

NO MATTER HOW BRIGHTLY YOU START THE DAY—A COUPLE OF HOURS OF HOUSEWORK MEANS FRAYED NERVES—FLAGGING ENERGY.

WILL I COME OVER AND HAVE A CUP OF TEA? WHY, THANKS, I WILL. I REALLY FEEL THE NEED OF SOME NOW. THE CHILDREN HAVE BEEN SO NOISY ALL MORNING.

DON'T WAIT UNTIL THAT TIREDNESS BECOMES A SEVERE ATTACK OF THE DROOPS. PREVENT THEM BY SITTING DOWN FOR A QUIET AND STIMULATING CUP OF WELL-MADE TEA.

Tea revives you

THE routine of housework is fully as exhausting as that of business life. There are periods in every housewife's day when she feels a complete lack of energy, an overwhelming boredom and no interest whatever in her work. Tempers get frayed and children seem especially made to create confusion and riot. That's when the Droops have really arrived. Pause then for a quiet and welcome cup of tea—and you'll see that Tea is a safe and sure cure as well as a preventative of the droops.

Onset Policy For Democracy

Aggressive Attitude Would Have Averted Crisis, Professor Tells Audience

"If the democratic countries of the world had taken an aggressive attitude rather than a defensive one, in many cases subsequent acute international situations would have been averted," Professor James Gibson of the University of British Columbia, told his audience at a lecture sponsored by the University Extension Society last night.

Professor Gibson made this statement during the course of an address on "A Good Citizen in the Changing World." "There is no particular reason why it is not possible to carry democratic ideals effectively into the international scene," he declared. "The covenant of the League of Nations was intended to provide a framework for political experiment in the international field and there has been sufficient achievement to warrant its existence."

WORLD DILEMMA

"The good citizen of today has inherited a vast stream of political ideas and creeds and he is not so concerned as formerly about the politics of his own country, but how those politics affect the present world dilemma," Running hand-in-hand with this feeling, the speaker said, in many cases one who was a "good citizen" in his own country became a raving lunatic when cast into the international political pot.

The "good citizen," Professor Gibson explained as typifying the trend of political thought on a reasonable basis since its appearance as a force in world history.

Aristotle, the famous Greek philosopher, was probably the earliest example of political reasoning, the speaker declared. Many of the ideals of his political creed was manifest in present-day government. Opposite to the ideals of Aristotle was the authoritarian conception of the state which was strikingly felt in the Dark Ages. The present totalitarian political creed as exemplified in contemporary European states was not new, but had its foundation in past history, Prof. Gibson declared.

"The problem of the 'good citizen' of today is to attempt to fit a political creed into ever-growing actualities, and to so fit it, will advance the welfare of mankind."

POLITICAL EVOLUTION

Professor Gibson described the advance, stage by stage, of political ideas down through history. Thomas Hobbes, in his political literary effort "The Leviathan," established a philosophy of politics which survived today in the negative conception of personality. He was one of the first to represent the secular tradition of the political field. The constitutional idea emerged with the arrival of the eighteenth century. Adam Smith in his "Wealth of Nations" brought forward a practical and rational political philosophy based on economic reasoning.

Early Victorian England saw the machinery of government falling badly out of tune with the actual political necessities evident, Professor Gibson said. "There is no period of history more interesting from a political point of view. The amount of legislation piled up enormously." The speaker told how this legislation was dealt with during the nineteenth century and the evolution into the many phases of present-day international politics.

Seek Saanich Aid For Park Work

A recommendation from the special committee in charge of improvements and road construction at Mount Douglas Park, seeking the donation by Saanich of the use of a steam shovel and one truck on the road project, as well as the loan of a compressor by the city, was approved by the City Council last night.

If the work were carried on as required, $1,000, donated by private citizens, would be spent on the project, it was stated. Need for speed in Saanich's acceptance of the recommendation was urged.

Alderman James Adam said that Reeve Crouch had agreed to help with certain work when the matter was first considered.

Many New Members Welcomed at Successful Supper Meeting of Junior Board

The value of the Victoria Junior Chamber, of Commerce to the community, inasmuch as the young business men who compose the membership, were striving for the same goal in their undertakings—the good and welfare of the city—was emphasized by speakers at a supper meeting of the organization last night in the Hudson's Bay Company dining-room.

It was the best-attended meeting since the Junior Chamber's inception, with close to 65 members and invited guests present. Among them were many new faces secured through a recent concerted drive for active members in the downtown area. The newcomers were welcomed by Ernest H. Harris, president, who was in the chair.

Harold Husband, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, greeted the new members and glowingly commended the board for the HOCKEY is hard to get out of the blood. Determination to quit may be potent, but the separation proves that absence makes the heart grow fonder. That's why we find Bill Cook, for 10 years star left wing of the New York Rangers, highly successful as coach of the Cleveland Barons. That's why we find runty Roy Worters, for so many seasons in National League nets, and who tossed in the sponge in 1937 due to physical disability, an assistant coach of the New York Americans.

Bill Boucher, long a star forward and also on defence for the Canadiens, and one of a trio of brothers who made good in professional hockey, coached the amateur Canadiens, a Montreal amateur team. George (Buck) Boucher, an erstwhile defence star for the Hammering Habitants, is manager of the Springfield Indians. Frank Boucher, who starred with the Rangers for a decade, is now assistant coach of the New York club. Rabbit McVeigh, for 10 years with the New York Americans, was added to the N.H.L. refereeing staff. Ace Bailey, star forward of the Toronto Maple Leafs forced out of the lineup because of a brain injury sustained in a game with the Boston Bruins several years ago, is coaching a Toronto junior team.

Joe Primeau, who centred for Chuck Conacher and Harvey Jackson in one of the most noted lines in the annals of hockey, and who fared well to concentrate on business, finds it essential to keep his hand in his favorite game by serving as coach for a Toronto junior team. Duke McCurry, formerly of the Leafs, Pittsburgh Pirates and Americans, gave up hockey to devote all his attention to dentistry, but is back on the ice each winter as a whistle toter in college and other amateur games in Ontario and Quebec. Bill Brydge, who served on the Amerk defence for five seasons, is playing manager of a Kirkland Lake, Ont., amateur team.

Cyclone Taylor, who for 20 years was active in major league hockey, is proxy of the Pacific Coast League. Clem Loughlin, formerly manager of the Chicago Black Hawks, is at the wheel for the Saskatoon Quakers in their Allan Cup drive. Bad Bill Coutt, once the nemesis for referees in big-time hockey when on defence for the Canadiens, Bruins, Boston Cubs, Rhody Reds and New Haven Eagles, has been a minor league manager and referee. Al (Battleship) Leduc, erstwhile defence star of the Canadiens, Americans and Ottawa Senators, is managing the Verdun Leafs in the Montreal League. Billy Bell, for many years a star forward in major league hockey, is unable to focus all his attention on the superintendency of operations for a Montreal steel company, and officiates as a referee each season in the N.H.L. and also in amateur tilts about old Quebec province.

Jess Spring, a star forward with the Americans when major league hockey made its debut in the United States, has been coaching amateurs at Oshawa, Ont. Ken Randall, for many years an ice villain, on defence for the Leafs and Americans, has been smoothing the rough edges off amateur aggregations in Ontario and Nova Scotia. Red Dutton, fire-eating manager of the Americans starred on defence for the Montreal Maroons and the Americans. Dick Irvin, coach of the Leafs, was a shooting star in topline hockey for 15 years.

Les Patrick, who has been top-hand of the Rangers since they materialized, starred in the N.H.A. and then established major league hockey on the Pacific Coast. Brother Frank, dittoed and later managed the Bruins. Eddie Powers, veteran coach of the Syracuse Stars, was active as a player before launching his long minor league managerial career.

To Battle U. of W. Freshies Saturday As Final Tune-up

Denver Safeways Will Be Here to Defend Cage Title March 4, 5 and 7

Island Finals

Victoria Dominoes are going through stiff practice sessions these days in preparation for their world championship basketball series with the Denver Safeways on March 4, 5 and 7, if necessary. The best two-out-of-three playoff will be staged at the High School gym.

Officials of the local club announced today that the ticket sale will be opened Monday, and holders of season tickets are asked to pick up their pasted boards as soon as possible. Interest in the playoff is at a fever pitch, and no doubt the limited accommodation at the gym will be taxed to its capacity.

Within a few days the handsome Jacob France Trophy, emblematic of the world amateur championship, will arrive in Victoria and be placed on display. It is said to be one of the finest sports trophies in the United States. The Safeways, United States Amateur Athletic Union champions, have one of the smoothest and biggest clubs in the history of American basketball. The titleholders will defend their title in their home gym shortly after the series here. On their way to the Victoria the Denver club will play at an exhibition game at San Francisco. Included on their line-up is Ralph Bishop, former University of Washington star. Bishop went to the Olympic Games at Berlin in 1936 as a member of the U.S. basketball team which won the championship, defeating Canada in the final.

REFEREES

The referees for the series will be a Seattle official, to be named by the American A.A.U., and one arbitrator from this city, yet to be selected.

As a final tuneup for the big series, the Dominoes will stack up against the University of Washington freshmen at the High School gym on Saturday night.

A highlight of the appearance of the "freshies" will be that Jack Mottishaw, former forward of the Dominoes, will be a member of the visiting club. Mottishaw, now a student at Washington, has been having a great season with the college outfit.

A preliminary game will get started at 8.

GAMES TOMORROW

Tomorrow evening at the High School gym three lower island playoff games will be staged, starting at 7.30. In the opening game clash, which promises to be the feature, Hoyle-Brown will tackle West Road, in the men's senior B division.

In the men's senior C section, Spencers will go up against Jordan River in the second game of a home and home series, total points to count. The clubs tied in the first game at the river.

The final match will bring together Cardinals and Shawngann Lake in a women's senior B encounter. It will be the first of a home and home total point series.

TO HOLD DANCES

The Oak Bay Theatre Hall has been chosen by members of the Hollywood Club to stage a series of dances in aid of its softball teams. The first will be held this Friday at 9 and a good orchestra will be on hand to render the music. The Hollywood senior club won the city championship last year, and the B and D section teams also took honors.

VANCOUVER — Blair Rife Range at North Vancouver will be the scene of the 1938 British Columbia Rifle Association's annual meeting, it was decided at a meeting of the association here Saturday.

The match will start July 5 and run five days.

One Pendray Cup Match Tomorrow

Wednesday soccer eleven will continue their bids for the Pendray Cup tomorrow afternoon with one match carded. This will bring together Hudson's Bay and Gorge Hotel at the Athletic Park, with McMillan refereeing.

The Bays are in a three-way tie with Spencers and the Navy for first place, and the Gorge are in the cellar. The game will start at 2.30.

ALAN MACLEAN NEW PRESIDENT

Chosen Head of Vancouver Island Swimming League at Annual Meeting

Members of the Vancouver Island Swimming League last night named Alan Maclean as their president for 1938, when they met in the Crystal Garden for their annual meeting. He succeeded R. W. Hiberson.

Mrs. W. MacAllister and C. E. "Charlie" Hopper were named first and second vice-presidents, respectively. George Bone was again returned as secretary. Thanks were extended to the retiring officers, with special mention being made to the fine work of the secretary, who has held the office since its inception.

The tentative date for the British Columbia championships was set as March 12. The date, however, is subject to ratification of the provincial board.

In choosing that date the association had in mind the returning Canada Empire Games swimmers. The Canadian representatives are due to arrive here on March 12 en route home and it is hoped to have some of the swimmers participate in the meet.

Old Nels Stewart Is Hockey Marvel

Veteran Set Scoring Pace in Big Time Last Week; Nears 300-goal Mark

MONTREAL — Elderly Nels Stewart may be getting around the age where National Hockey League players exchange stick and puck for armchair and pipe and a good book, but at the present moment he's still "Old Poison" to the goalies around the big circuit. "Slippery Sam" of the New York Americans is nearing his 300-goal mark, and he's getting there in a hurry too. Working with a third-place team, he scored more points than any other player in the league during the week.

Official league statistics released last night show Stewart's stick accounted for four goals, and he got another point on an assist. That brought his total up to 14 goals and 12 assists for the season.

Gordon Drillon of Toronto Maple Leafs is as far out in front as ever, with 19 goals and 23 assists, a five-point margin over teammate Syl Apps who has 16 and 21.

Drillon likewise tops the league in assists, two ahead of Apps and Phil Watson of New York Rangers. Leadership in goals goes to another Ranger, Cecil Dillon, with 20. In total standing, though, Drillon slipped into third place during the week, from a second-place tie with Apps.

"Boy King" of Kenneldom

With the dignity becoming a newly-crowned king, Champion Daro of Maridor poses for his picture. Though only 11 months old, this orange-colored English setter has just won the title of best dog in any class in the outstanding canine competition on this continent in the Westminster Kennel Club show in New York. It was the first time since 1925 that this coveted award has been given to a United States dog, and an almost unheard-of feat for a dog not yet emerged from puppyhood. He was bred by Dwight Ellis, Jr., of East Longmeadow, Mass.

Seabiscuit Will Run on Saturday

LOS ANGELES — Entries for the $7,500 San Antonio handicap next Saturday, last big feature before the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap March 5, closed yesterday with Charles S. Howard's Seabiscuit topping a field of 22.

Aneroid, Calumet Dick, Today, Top Row, Sceneshifter and Indian Broom were among others nominated for the mile and one furlong San Antonio.

Richmond, Va. — Lou Ambers, 136½, world lightweight champion, Herkimer, N.Y., knocked out Lou Jallio, 137, Cleveland (four), non-title.

The reigning king of the bad men is still, Allan Shields, of Montreal Maroons, with 65 minutes with the timers. Art Coulter of Rangers is just one minute behind.

LOS ANGELES — America's red-haired tennis ace, J. Donald Budge, was back today from an Australian tour, still resolved that he won't turn professional this year.

Heavyweight Champion Defends Title Against Nathan Mann Tomorrow

NEW YORK — Nathan Mann, an aggressive young fellow from New Haven, became an even-money choice today to avoid a knockout at the hands of champion Joe Louis when he meet tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden with dead-pan Joe's title at stake.

Odds were 3 to 1 on Louis to win the scheduled 15 rounds of what is supposed to be target practice for the Brown Bomber.

There was a time when the mere thought of Louis was sufficient to whip his opponents, but Max Schmeling ended that. Mann's manager, Billy Brown, announced the New Haven hitter considered the Louis bout the "chance of his life."

"He'll waste no time boxing Louis," said Brown. "Mann will come out of his corner swinging at the start."

Should he land a title-taking blow, Mann is bound by agreement to fight Louis again within 60 days. In his favor is a good right hand and the fact the champion almost always is the favorite. Against him is the fact Louis likes a stand-up fighter such as Mann. The majority of critics view the bout as just another tune-up for Louis' outdoor championship defence against Schmeling this summer.

Despite a minimum of ballyhoo, promoter Mike Jacobs anticipated a gate of more than $100,000.

Probable Opponents For Major Hockey League Series Tangle Tonight

Toronto Maple Leafs are heading for National Hockey League finals with Boston, but unless they can bolster their record against Bruins tonight they'll be heavy underdogs when play-off time comes.

In five meetings this season Bruins have won four times and Leafs but one, while the most glaring spot on the record is Boston's 9 to 1 victory in Toronto January 22. Tonight they stage their last scheduled match in Boston and Bruins can make themselves pronounced favorites to whip the Leafs in N.H.L. finals and continue in the Stanley Cup series.

Boston's privileged fans, who saw the Bruins extend their lead over New York Rangers to seven points by coming from behind to defeat Rangers 3 to 2 Sunday, expect to watch another high-powered "preview." They figure, with others, that Bruins will face Toronto for the league title and go against Rangers in cup finals.

Both clubs have but 10 games to go and either can make first place almost sure by winning tonight. Much will depend, too, on the result of the collision in New York of Rangers and Montreal Canadiens, who trail Toronto by eight points. In the night's third game Chicago Black Hawks, struggling to retain third place over Detroit in the American section, will invade Montreal to play Maroons, hopelessly out of the race in their division.

Canadiens will introduce a rookie defenceman, Armand Raymond, brought up from Montreal's amateur ranks to aid the crippled Habitants. He will replace the injured Bab Siebert.

DUTTON RETURNS

NEW YORK — Ching Johnson climbed back into his hockey armor today after one of the stiffest impromptu coaching jobs in the records of the National League. He turned over to manager Red Dutton the inspired Americans who dropped but one game in four starts under the bald-eagle's guidance while Red was in hospital with an injured back.

In the four games Ching directed the Americans, they won two and gained one tie before losing to Toronto Maple Leafs here 3 to 2 Sunday night. It was "The Chinaman's" first chance as a mentor in his 11 years of big-time campaigning. The success may have paved a long future in hockey for the 30-year-old veteran Red signed this winter after New York Rangers turned him loose.

"I guess if Red had been around we wouldn't have lost that game to the Leafs," said Johnson modestly.

The Heart of an Ocean Liner

What a sight is the engine room of an ocean liner! Almost filled with furnaces, boilers, generators and turbines, it may be called "the heart" of the vessel.

Part of power plant on modern liner.

A man's heart pumps blood around his body. If it stops pumping, he will die. The engine room supplies power to make the ship go. If it stopped working, the ship would be left to the mercy of tides and currents.

The engine room on this steamer is a great space which contains stairways and metal gratings. The gratings form floors of a sort, and there are machines at different levels. We may, however, call it one great room, with a height of about 50 feet.

An engineer, Mr. Alfred Groves, guided me around. First I looked at the furnaces, and saw 20 fire-boxes which heat the main boilers. In the old days, every steamer had a crew of stokers to shovel coal into the furnaces. What hard, hot work it was!

Nowadays the more up-to-date steamers use oil for fuel. A small door on one furnace was opened for me, and inside I saw a sparkling flame.

The flames heat water in tubes, and the water is turned into steam in the boilers. "Super-heated" steam is produced with a pressure of 400 pounds to the square inch. This steam drives the turbines. It strikes against the fan-like blades of the turbines, and makes them go around.

There are three turbines and one giant gear-wheel for each propeller shaft. The wheel is 14 feet in diameter and weighs 32 tons. The turbines make it turn 1,700 times per minute. As it turns, it works gears which make the propeller shaft go around 100 times per minute.

The ship has two propellers, and each has its own shaft. Mr. Groves took me from the engine room to the rear of the boat, a distance of about 200 feet. All along the way I could see the shafts turning. The shafts are made of steel, and are about 20 inches in diameter.

The propellers end the story of how oil, or other fuel, can make a steamer move through water. Power goes from burning furnaces to steam boilers and turbines, then to gear-wheels, shafts and propellers. When the propellers turn at high speed, we travel more than 20 miles per hour.

LONG PRISON SENTENCE

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Bardon, Seattle divorcee, was sentenced Monday to a maximum of 40 years in prison for the second degree knife-slaying of her father, E. A. Dillon, 63, last October. Judge John M. Wilson denied a new trial.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—These things have been listed as most important in making a marriage a success: (1) A marriage should be founded on mutual affection and respect, (2) physical health, (3) moral wholesomeness, (4) mental stimulation, (5) spiritual inspiration, (6) economic soundness, (7) social responsibility, (8) artistic satisfaction. What is your opinion as to the relative rating of the different points?

A FATHER.

Answer: Every one will agree that for a marriage to be a success it must be founded on mutual affection and respect. Without love a marriage is bound to be a failure, or at any rate a patient endurance of bondage without thrill or joy in it. But beyond that tastes differ, and I do not think that many people agree on the relative importance of the other things that it takes to make an ideal marriage.

Personally, next to love I should put moral wholesomeness, which I should broaden to take in not only faithfulness to each other but the attitude of husbands and wives to each other. Certainly there can be no happiness in any marriage in which either one is a philanderer and in which their can be no trust. Nor can there be any happiness in a marriage in which the wife is a nagger and fault-finder and the husband is neglectful or cold or grouchy.

Then I should put health. No matter how much a man may love a woman or a woman may love a man, if he or she is an invalid it breaks up a normal domestic life and it is a great handicap to the success of the marriage. The invalid husband or wife ceases to be a companion and becomes a care. The well one is enslaved to the ill one, and sick people become self-centred, selfish and exacting.

Next I should put mental stimulation and spiritual inspiration, which are practically the same thing. Nothing goes farther toward making a marriage a success than for a husband and wife to be interesting companions to each other, with the same outlook on life and the same tastes. Boredom kills more marriages than any other one thing.

And, of course, every married person would like to have a husband or wife who was artistically satisfying and easy to look at; but that is immaterial, since beauty is in the eye of the beholder, and the people we love always look good to us.

DEAR MISS DIX—Do you think it wise for a young man to marry when he has had little association with women? Isn't he more likely to run around with other women after marriage? It seems to me that this would be the obvious outcome, for he is sure to think that he is missing something by being true to only one woman.

J. C. C.

Answer: The French have a proverb that the reformed rake makes the best husband, but I do not believe that to be true. Nor do I think that many modern women would care for that kind of a husband. One of the great arguments against boys marrying when they are very young is that they know so little of women that they are not capable of making a choice between them.

Hence it is highly desirable that before a man marries he should have been acquainted with many girls and thus be able to contrast their different qualities and see which he really prefers. For a man to marry the first girl he meets is for him to be like a child with a dollar in his hand who buys the first thing he sees in a store.

But this acquaintance with girls has nothing to do with a man having had a succession of what we euphemistically call "affairs." They do not make him a better husband. They make him a worse one, for all women have been cheapened in his eyes and he feels no responsibility toward any of them. Moreover, he has acquired a taste for change and no one woman will satisfy him. He will grow tired of any wife and always be looking for some one different. A philanderer is a philanderer and that is all there is to it.

DOROTHY DIX.

Goalie Sam Timmins Frolics
As Vancouver Whips
Spokane 7 to 1

VANCOUVER—Vancouver
Lions had made the race for the third playoff position in the Coast
Hockey League more or less of a fight between Portland Buckaroos and Spokane Clippers today.

Lions galloped to a 7 to 1 victory over the Clippers here last night, and made it necessary for the Bucks or Spokane to win the major share of their remaining games to oust Vancouver from the second or third spots.

The Leos, with three games left to play, are six points ahead in front of the Clippers and seven in front of Portland. Spokane have eight games to play, while the Bucks have six.

Spokane rushes were broken up quickly by defencemen
Irvine Frew, and any shots that sifted through were easily turned aside by goalie Percy Jackson.
Sam Timmins, in the Clipper net, had a hard time reaching the corners and his weak defence didn't help his goalkeeping any.

The third period broke into comedy as Timmins turned his net around as a Vancouver rush materialized. Frew and Cam
Proudlock then gave an exhibition of bodychecking, boxing and wrestling. Frew getting the decision in all encounters.

DRAW MAJORS
Timmins skated down from his net to get a "ringside seat" as the referees let the boys rough it up for a while. As Sam skated back to his cage he imitated a Venetian gondola paddler, propelling himself up the sloppy ice.
Frew and Proudlock got five minutes each.

SUMMARY
First period—1, Vancouver,
Rimstad, 17.01. Penalties: Palm.
Second period—2, Vancouver, Conn,
8.01; 4, Vancouver, Lennon (Conn, O'Neill), 9.17; 5, Vancouver, Rimstad (Palm, Arnott), 11.47.
Penalties: Kenny, Palm (2),
Proudlock, Pridham.

Third period—6, Vancouver,
Conn (O'Neill, Lennon), 1.00; 7,
Spokane, Wbstr (Pridham), 5.00;
8, Vancouver, Palm (Arnott),
15.22. Penalties: Frew and Proud-lock (five minutes each), Pringle, Webster.
